

Stars of the Week

Eliza	Responding really well to her regulation time in the sensory room
Willow	Consistently joining in with whole class sessions such as Good Afternoon and Shared Attention
Abdullahi	Fantastic counting whilst eating his lunch
Lydia	Lovely exploration and communication skills during a WOW day cooking activity
Jojo	Coping really well with lots of transitions to different activities for World Book Day and engaging in all of them
Quentin	Excellent powered mobility in his Bugzi all the way to Toni's office and back!
Solana	Getting back into her personal care routines and self-regulation activities
Hannah F	For actively engaging in all of her learning this week and being star of the day everyday

Shout-out to Nuurto for fantastic interactions with Adam during world book day activities

Shout-out to all of our pupils and their parents for such fantastic World Book Day costumes. They were impressive!

Shout-out to all the staff for their hard work and incredible creativity putting on a wonderful World Book WOW day for our pupils. Everyone had so much fun! Thank you to Hannah for leading on this.

Goodbye

We were sorry to say goodbye to Rowenna this week. Rowenna has been a real asset to our school team and we wish her well as she moves into adult community services a bit closer to home.

Barbara has been very busy with recruitment over the past few weeks and we'll be able to update you on this in due course. Lila, a new therapy admin assistant will be starting with us on Monday.

St Paul's Pantry

Check out our Instagram page to see pupils using the sign.

Resources for Parents and Staff

We are saddened by the events in Ukraine over the last two weeks and are thinking of those being displaced, grieving and who have lost so much due to the war. Our children may not fully understand what is happening but they may see images on the TV, in newspapers or overhear adult conversations. Talking to children about world events can be hard so we hope that these resources may help you
